April 8th 2052

Aboard Crayven destroyer "_Blazing phoenix",_

Ensign Michael Phillips sits back at his radar post, sighing and drinking a cup of coffee, looking at the screen he says, "I joined to travel, and see the universe, but I'm stuck here." He sighs, takes another sip of his coffee, suddenly to un-identified signatures, pop up on the screen, he spews out his coffee in surprise, he grabs the radio and says "Captain, we got a problem!" the captain replies, "What type of problem?" Phillips, hesitates, then says, "Two unidentified ships coming into our perimeter, it is unknown if they are hostile." After three minutes, there is no response, then the Captain says "Alright son, bring the ship to red alert!" Phillips hit the alarm, and the loud ringing sound echoed throughout the ship, marines jumped out of their beds and hurriedly put on their armor rushed to get their weapons. Captain Joseph Cutter walked into the bridge and went to the radar post, "Status Ensign!" Phillips turned the monitor to the area of the disturbance and he pointed "There sir, the coordinates are 45 degrees west, 65 degrees north." Captain Cutter stared at the map, and said, "Magnify the image of those objects."

The image magnified, showing two spacecraft, but they looked organic, then something hit the ship, and the whole ship shook, deck crews flew off their chairs due to the impact, Captain cutter yelled into the radio, "What the hell was that!?" as the response came, the sounds of gunfire and shouting was in the background, the crew member replied "Sir, We are being boarded, they are not OND, and their weapons are melting through our armor And they are not human, I repeat we are taking heavy casualties request--" the radio suddenly cut off, and an explosion blew off the blast doors of the bridge, captain cutter around, half of the crew were either dead, or wounded, and he looked ant himself, a piece of metal was inside of his stomach, then he heard footsteps, he looked up staring at a strange being, it looked at him and said, "We are the alpha-centauri, and we are here to reclaim what is ours." With that, the alien pointed a gun and fired.

Then captain cutter slumped to the floor, dead. The creature then ordered the others, "Find the data and destroy the ship." As the creature left the bridge, the sound of humans pleading and screaming in agony echoed throughout the ship. Later on the alien craft, the creature knelt before a throne and said, "Have we succeeded in our mission master?" the figure grinned and said, "yes Xeelios, we have."
